-- The MAILING DATE of this communication appears on the cover sheet with the correspondence address --
Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) ☒ Responsive to communication(s) filed on 29 March 2005.
2a) ☐ This action is FINAL. 2b) ☒ This action is non-final.
3) ☐ Since this application is in condition for allowance except for formal matters, prosecution as to the merits is closed in accordance with the practice under Ex parte Quayle, 1935 C.D. 11, 453 O.G. 213.

Disposition of Claims

DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. This is a fourth office action in response to applicant's election filed, 29 March 2005, of application filed, with the above serial number, on 22 June 2000 in claims 1-12 from Group I have been elected and new claims 32-36 have been added. Claims 1-12 and 32-36 are therefore pending in the application.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 5 recites the limitation "the database" in line 2. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim 32 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The wording of the claim language is vague and not clear if there is a missing step.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

4. Claims 1-9, 12 and 32-36 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Lee (hereinafter "Lee", 5,862,377).

As per Claim 1, Lee teaches a software architecture for enabling multiple users to perform a plurality of tasks via a wide-area network, wherein Lee discloses:

a plurality of applications (applications) (at least Fig. 3; col. 4, lines 33-52);

a data schema for storing a plurality of data objects, the data schema having an underlying, extensible data model (at least col. 8, lines 45-57; data architecture with extensible format); and an integrated platform for enabling each of the multiple users to perform at least one of the tasks by controlling interaction between two or more of the applications and the data model (at least col. 5, lines 16-30; col. 6, lines 17-33; col. 7, lines 24-55; eg. interaction between applications).

As per Claim 2.

wherein the integrated platform dynamically contextualizes each stage of a task with reference to a corresponding user (eg. widget to application context of receiver/sender) (at least col. 12, lines 45-50).

As per Claim 3.

wherein the integrated platform creates a contextual task list for the corresponding user (at least col. 8, lines 50-66; ocllist for sender).

As per Claim 4.

Art Unit: 2157

wherein a data object is associated with a context information record that further describes a task in which the data object will be used ( ) (at least col. 8, lines 7-30; col. 12, lines 45-50).

As per Claim 5.

wherein the platform allows a user and an application to extend the database in a user-specific way, thereby enabling the multiple users and the plurality of applications to use the database (at least col. 8, lines 45-66; OCL use and ocllist).

As per Claim 6.

wherein the database can be extended dynamically without changing the underlying structure of the database (at least col. 8, lines 45-66; OCL).

As per Claim 7.

wherein the extensible data model has extensible attributes that can be used to add a previously undefined data attribute and wherein the extensible, underlying data model provides a standard way of representing the previously undefined data attribute (at least col. 8, lines 45-66; OCL).

As per Claim 8.

further comprising a user interface that is uniform across the plurality of applications (X window and widgets) (at least col. 3 line 46 - col. 4 line 52).

As per Claim 9.

wherein additional services can be added using the plurality of applications (at least col. 5 line 16 - col. 6 line 32; eg. updating widgets).

As per Claim 12.

wherein the architecture is a reactive architecture which supports a plurality of levels of task granularity and is dynamically aware of what information has been entered by a user (at least col. 8, lines 14-66; knowing what kinds of data can transmit).

As per Claim 32.

the extensible data model for arranging and configuring application data of one or more of the plurality of applications (at least col. 8, lines 45-66).

As per Claim 33.

wherein the application data are one of a fixed attribute and an extended attribute (at least col. 8, lines 45-63; col. 5, lines 35-57).

As per Claim 34.

further comprising a data logic component for operating on the data (at least col. 8, lines 25-66).

As per Claim 35.

the user interface implementing a user experience (at least col. 3 line 46 - col. 4 line 52).

As per Claim 36.

further including an information architecture layer for modeling the user experience (at least col. 8, lines 45-63).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 2157

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 10 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lee in view of Reisman (hereinafter "Reisman", 6,594,692).

Lee fails to teach wherein the integrated platform is used to create and maintain an online business presence and customer relationship management application. However, the use and advantages for using such a platform is well known to one skilled in the art at the time the invention was made as evidenced by the teachings of Reisman (at least col. 38, lines 8-63; abstract). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to incorporate the use of Reisman's system into Lee's system as creating and maintaining particular types of web pages is a very well known use for sending and receiving data between users and having such data be compatible for viewing between the sender and receiver.

Conclusion

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Newly cited Ashby et al, Gawlick et al, Fohn et al, and Bowman-Amuah, in addition to previously cited Hanson et al, D'Arlach et al, Bernardo et al, Lagarde et al (distributed tasking), Sondur et al (relational database), Cohen (ASP page application authoring), Graham (remote web-authoring methods), Wolfe et al (website development details), and Belanger (remote server application execution) are cited for disclosing pertinent information related to the claimed invention. Applicants are requested to consider the prior art reference for relevant teachings when responding to this office action.

8. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Gregory G. Todd whose telephone number is (571)272-4011. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday - Friday 9:00am-6:00pm w/ first Fridays off.

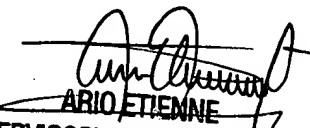

If attempts to reach the examiner by telephone are unsuccessful, the examiner's supervisor, Ario Etienne can be reached on (571)272-4001. The fax phone number for the organization where this application or proceeding is assigned is 703-872-9306.

Information regarding the status of an application may be obtained from the Patent Application Information Retrieval (PAIR) system. Status information for published applications may be obtained from either Private PAIR or Public PAIR. Status information for unpublished applications is available through Private PAIR only. For more information about the PAIR system, see <http://pair-direct.uspto.gov>. Should you have questions on access to the Private PAIR system, contact the Electronic Business Center (EBC) at 866-217-9197 (toll-free).
